

Figure 1. Navigation piles with an illustration of the first-ancestor technique. The nodes, the contents of which may change, are indicated with light gray. When updating the contents of the shadowed branches on the right, no element comparisons are necessary.